A little boy's first composition was about a pig. This is the way he wrote it: "Pigs are very queer animals. The pig has its uses. Our dog don't like pigs. His name is Nero. Our teacher read a piece one day about a wicked king named Nero. I like good men. My papa is an awful good man. Men are very useful. They have a great many uses which I can't stop to tell them all. This is all I can think of about the pig."

MONONGAHELA PROPERTY INCLUDED IN BIG DEAL

Holdings of River Coal at Dry Run Taken Over By Frick.

900 ACRES COAL LAND

Development of Territory Is Looked For--Rights of Way Are Secured.

Upon the completion of the big coal deal, in which the United States Steel Corporation purchased 900 acres of coal land from the Pittsburgh Coal with which is affiliated the River Coal company, the Steel Corporation, through its subsidiary company, the H. C. Frick Coke company will become a taxpayer of Monongahela, says the Monongahela Times.

In the deal which is now being closed the Steel Corporation takes over the New Eagle holdings of the River Coal company, which includes 900 acres of coal immediately back of the city, and all the surface formerly owned by the River Coal. This includes the Dry Run property, the Dry Run bottoms and in fact, all the surface previously held by the River Coal, taking in the right of way on the Keenan property below the power house, which has been reserved as an opening for the coal. This tract taken over by the Steel Corporation joins with the lands of the Mingo Coal company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel, and which has a large acreage in the Mingo district.

In selling this large acreage in that district, the River Coal took care of the workings of Catsburg, Eclipse and Crescent mines. Between these three workings about 5,000 acres of coal will be divided, of which amount 1,800 acres have been allotted to Catsburg, and this amount may be increased when the allotment lines have been completed. This field is estimated to give Catsburg sufficient acreage to operate for 35 years. The Diamond mine will not be affected by this deal, as it has a large acreage to draw from, and it is estimated that it will require 25 years to exhaust the field in which it is now working. The Guffey tract of 800 acres, back of Webster, was also included in the deal, but it is not likely that anything will be done in the way of development in that locality for some years.

The Steel corporation now has considerable coal land divided in several States approximately as follows:

Southern Illinois, 20,000 acres, Northern Indiana, 8,000 acres, Southern Indiana, 4,000 acres, Kentucky 8,000 acres; Alabama, 10,000 acres; West Virginia, between 25,000 and 30,000 acres, while in southwestern Pennsylvania their holdings of coking coal is estimated at 30,000 acres. It will thus be seen the corporation is well fortified when it comes to taking care of their needs for many years to come.

Both the deals noted above evidently means there will be some radical changes in the method or manner of opening and developing the immense coal holdings in this section of Washington county, and there are many who predict that the next few years will see an activity in this respect never before equaled in the history of mining in this section.

New Inspectors Are Appointed

Additional Districts are Created for the Bituminous Coal Field

Announcement was made at Harrisburg, Monday of the appointment of four new mine inspectors for the soft coal region, as follows: Richard Maize, Ivanhoe; Edward E. Girod, Brownsville; Thomas A. Mather, Jr., and Thomas A. Furniss, Johnstown. Chief of Mines James E. Roderick has not yet announced the districts but they will probably be assigned as follows: Maize, Somerset; Girod, Masontown; Mather, Tyrone and Furniss, Punxsutawney.

PROGRESS ON ROAD

Thought That Cars Can be Run Donora Route This Fall.

CONTRACTORS WORK HARD

The work of paving on the improved road between Monongahela and Donora will likely be completed about the middle of next week, unless weather should interfere. There remains a little to be done on the fill at Black Diamond, and when this is completed the work of the contractor, so far as the road is concerned, will be through. However, the Sweeney Contracting company is now engaged in taking up the subgrade for the street railway company operations on this contract having been commenced at the Donora borough line. This work will be pushed as fast as possible, which will be followed by the placing of the ballast and ties by the railways company. Trolley cars should be in operation between Monongahela and Donora some time in the early fall.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL PUT THROUGH

One of the largest real estate deals to be put through for some time, it is said has practically been consummated in Monessen, H. Cramer, a merchant of that place purchasing from Joseph Powers, of Belle Vernon, a three story brick building on Donner avenue. The consideration is said to be $17,500. A Five and Ten cent store now occupies the store room of the building which is in the heart of the business section.

UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC TO BE FEATURE

Affair Thursday Promises to Attract Big Crowd to Eldora Park--Special Cars Will Be Run.

Special committee in charge of the arrangements for the union picnic of Sunday Schools to be held at Eldora Park on Thursday of this week are getting matters in ship-shape and present indications are for a remarkably successful event. A meeting was held by the general committee in charge Monday evening and matters taken up in regard to transportation. The sports committee will hold a meeting tonight to arrange a program of sports.

Special cars will be run at 9 and 10 o'clock. Seven cars will leave Fifth street, Charleroi, at 9 o'clock and stops will be made at Sixth and Ninth streets and Lock No. 1, to take on passengers. Transportation will be free for Sunday School members. At 10 o'clock three more cars will leave Charleroi.

At 9:30 o'clock two cars will go to Dunlevy and at 10 o'clock two to Speers for members of the Sunday Schools at those places.

The picnic will be the first of the kind in the Charleroi district. A union picnic of Charleroi Sunday Schools was held previously but this did not take in the Sunday Schools of neighboring boroughs.

Every precaution will be taken at Eldora Park to protect children from injury. Each child will be given a certain number of free tickets for the various amusements.

INSPECTION OF CARS ORDERED

P. & L. E. Prepares for Increase in the Coal and Coke Trade.

Orders have been received at the Monongahela station of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad to have all the freight cars which have been stored on the sidings at Axleton to the number of almost 300 inspected preparatory to their being moved out on the division. These cars have been stored there since last fall, due to the falling off in coal and coke traffic, but recent stock of the company makes it necessary to put them into commission just as fast as they are made available.

Coal and coke traffic on both the P. & L. E. and the Lake Erie have shown signs of renewed activity the past few weeks, and it has now expanded to great proportions. The demand from the northwest are becoming heavier to which is added the additional demand from the Canadian provinces, where a strike of coal miners has been in progress for the past six months. According to the view taken by railroad officials, the outlook is very bright for the coal and coke trade during the coming months.

CHARLEROI LODGE HOLDS PICNIC AT ROCK POINT TODAY

The annual outing of Glass City Lodge No. 1392, G. U. O. O. F. of Charleroi, is being held at Rock Point park today and there is a big number from the valley in attendance. The committee in charge of the affair consists of George Turner, Elijah Smith, Thomas Gourden and Hiram T. Smith.

RINEHART GIVES UP HALF MILLION

Former Waynesburg Bank Cashier Turns Over Property.

Carrying out an order of the circuit court J. B. F. Rinehart, formerly cashier of the Farmers and Drovers National Bank of Waynesburg, which closed its doors December 12, 1906, and who is now serving 15 years in the penitentiary, Monday conveyed by deed the property which he held in Greene county at the time the institution failed. The property which he deeded conveyed amounts to about half a million dollars.

The deeds also convey property which J. B. F. Rinehart had conveyed to his wife shortly before the failure of the bank. The conveyance of the property turned over to Mrs. Rinehart followed an agreement.

The land conveyed to John H. Strawn, receiver of the F. & D. bank, in which Mrs. Rinehart was interested included the coal under three tracts containing 117.95 acres, 161.32 and 17 acres and 81 perches respectively and a tract of land located in Franklin township, containing 119.767 acres coal reserved. This Franklin township property is valued at about $75,000. There were judgments against this property to the amount of $18,000. By the agreement Mrs. Rinehart paid off the judgments while Receiver Strawn pays Mrs. Rinehart $22,500.

The other deeds convey to the bank Mr. Rinehart's interest in the Morris township coal block equal to 1,500 acres which is valued at about $225,000.

WINNERS OF TWO FLAGS MAY FIGHT IT OUT SATURDAY

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Church League Monday evening it was decided that the Methodist Episcopal game scheduled for Thursday of this week be played on Wednesday on account of the Union Sunday School picnic at Eldora Park, providing satisfactory arrangements can be made.

The matter of the game between the Lutherans, pennant winners of the Charleroi Church league and the Lutherans, leaders in the Monessen Church league was taken up and such a game will probably be played on Saturday afternoon of this week. The name of one player was acted upon, John Tuttena being added to the Washington Avenue list.

It was decided to have the game between members of the Executive Board and the Managers on next Wednesday, August 9. Joe Stech is the manager of the executive members' team and Jack Richey is manager of the managers' team. It is probable that they will announce their line-ups Wednesday. The game will be played according to rules of 1861.

Charleroi School Places All Filled for Coming Term.

SCHOOL OPENS AUG. 28

Secretary Ira L. Nickerson, of the school board, has just received the acceptance of Charles M. Donley of Waynesburg to the position of teacher in the High School to which he was elected at a meeting last week. All vacancies in the school have not been filled and all teachers have accepted their places. School will start on Monday, August 28, a little more than three weeks from today. Prof. James G. Pentz superintendent of schools is now absent on his vacation but he will return within a few days and prepare for the opening of the term. The newly elected High School principal, Prof. W. A. Swick, has been here practically all summer, being the superintendent of the playgrounds.

The school will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening of this week and all final arrangements for the opening of the term completed.

MACCABEES TENDER SURPRISE TO MEMBER

Mrs. W. U. Evans, of McKean avenue, was tendered a very pleasant surprise Monday evening by members of the Lady Maccabees in honor of her birthday. An enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Evans was the recipient of a very beautiful centerpiece. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. James Garrigan, Mrs. Clarence Blanchard and Miss Carrie Porter.

Dynamite Used to Blow Away Portion of Building.

NONE OF INMATES HURT

Children Were Sleeping Over Porch Which Was Entirely Wrecked.

An attempt was made to dynamite the home of Maze Conway, of Granville, near California this morning about 12:30 o'clock which resulted in the porch of the house being blown off. Both Mr. and Mrs. Conway were sleeping in upstairs rooms at the time of the dynamiting and their children occupied a room almost over the porch, but no one was hurt. There is no clue as to the identity of the person or persons who committed the deed.

Apparently there was not much dynamite used, and the intent evidently was to set fire to the house, more than to dynamite it with the intention of killing the inmates. Little fire followed the explosion.

The Conways lived on the outskirts of Granville, which is a mining hamlet back of Coal Centre. People living in California heard the reverberation. The house was shaken on its foundations but stood firm. The porch tottered and fell, a mass of wreckage. The inmates were awakened at being wakened from sound sleep and quickly got out of the building. The damage will probable amount to $300. The structure was probably worth $1,500.

LUTHERANS PLAY THEIR FINAL GAME

Closing the season with a percentage of 329 the flag winners of the Charleroi Church Baseball league, the Lutherans played their last game Monday night when they defeated the First Presbyterians. The First Presbyterians also played their last game and finish in seventh place with a percentage of .357. There are three games yet to be played this week and the important place now to be decided is second place where there is a tie between the Episcopalians and Catholics. The Episcopalians play the Methodists on Thursday and the Catholics play the Baptists in the concluding game on Friday. If both win there will be a game most probably to decide the tie.

Entertains for Guests.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Minton Shippe Monday evening, when a party was held in honor of her guests, Robert and Harold Moss. There were about 18 guests present and the evening was spent with music and games. Lunch was served.

THE PRECEDENT BREAKER.

Leaders of men have ever been precedent breakers, says Success. Timid people, no matter how able, never make leaders. Fearlessness and originality are characteristic of all men of progress. They have no reverence for the old simply because it is old; with them it is always a question of pushing forward, of improving on the past, instead of sloshily copying it.

What Charles W. Eliot has done for the educational world, the Marshall Fields, the Wanamakers, the James J. Hills, the Carnegies have done for the business world.

General Grant did what all the Generals who condemned him for not following war precedents in text books on military tactics could not do—he ended the war. Napoleon ignored all previous war methods, broke all war precedents in his conquering march through Europe. Men of force and initiative are always breaking precedents. Weak, timid, toadies never break anything. Roosevelt had little use for White House precedents or political traditions. In every position, whether as President, Commissioner, Governor, Vice President or President, he has always insisted on being himself—no copy. He never tries to imitate or copy his heroes. No matter how much he admired a man he never imitates him. A great deal of his remarkable force comes from being himself.

"The surest way to secure failure," said Joseph Jefferson to young actors "is to imitate someone else."

DON'T BE CHEAP.

Do not hold yourself too cheap, says the Milwaukee Journal. If you do not think well of yourself others are not likely to think much of you. You are usually taken at your own value. By this is not meant a foolish self-conceit, but a proper self-respect.

Have a regard for the proper esteem of those whose opinion is worth having. No one can be admired by all. He who has no enemies may doubt whether he has real friends. Try to win the regard of the good and the wise; if the foolish take offense pass it by.

Think too well of yourself to stoop to anything coarse, mean or untrue. However humble your station in life may be, you may think yourself worthy only of that which is good and true. To be genuine puts you on a high level. Whatever you pursue you may be rich in character. Think yourself worthy of the best to which you can attain. Aim for the highest you see, and should you fail to reach it you will still be higher than if your aim had been low.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Still it must be admitted that Booker T. Washington has a bigger and better clientele than Jack Johnson.

For the benefit of those who haven't been following this reciprocity business very closely, it might be wise to state that Canada still has something to say on the matter.

There is a place in the west where they say anybody can make a fortune and the laziest man in the county has gone there. If he makes a success there won't be any chance whatever for doubt.

It is possible that even jail wardens know what they are doing some times. One out in Colorado let some long term men chase cattle for him and they brought them back in good time.

It seems that being a life guard insures getting your mug published in the papers down at Pittsburg, providing you can only arrange, to save somebody.

Financing the wedding of his daughter to a duke is about the same kind of business proposition to a millionaire as that of giving a dowry to an asylum.

While we are at it, we might as well mention the fact that we are in favor of a safe and sane Fourth of July.

The Akron Times says that of course Jack Johnson would fight with England against Germany.

Most people like to be dramatic but don't know how.

Now that the State Dairy and Food Division has found that all the milk sold by Charleroi dairymen is pure, wouldn't they just as lief persuade them to reduce the price so we could get to taste it occasionally?

If it all the same to the school authorities and everybody else the boys would just as lief they wouldn't start school at all this year.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I've just heard of a new checking system," said the woman who always has new ideas. "This was revealed at a golden wedding reception I attended recently in a little country town up-state. Of course, the house was large, but as the whole town, pretty nearly, was there, it was something of a task to feed and otherwise refresh those guests properly and to be sure that no one was overlooked. Well, after greeting the dear old wife and husband, who stood with the golden winter sunshine at their backs, the guests were passed into a room where punch was served, where ice cream, cake and other delicacies were handed out. They left this room by another door, which took them out into the hall again, but before they passed out of the dining-room a pretty young granddaughter who stood by the door with a big basket full of yellow carnations (especially colored for the event,) pinned a flower to each guest. Of course, every one was glad to get such a charming souvenir, but only the members of the family knew that when a guest wore a yellow flower he had been served bountifully and those without had had nothing Pretty clever for a country affair, wasn't it?"

Congressman Victor Murdock of Kansas, the Republican insurgent who was chief orator at Monessen on the Fourth, is a real newspaper man. He was formerly managing editor of the Wichita Eagle, and a letter by him to that paper last week contained this paragraph.

"The other day at a garden party at the White House I saw a congressman clad in a long black frock coat walk up to the President and shake hands. It was ninety-eight in the shade and the President, looking cool in summer flannels, laughed and indicating the direction of the heavy winter garment said: 'You must feel nice and cozy in that coat.'"

A true enough story, except that the writer modestly omitted to tell his home readers the name of the congressman. It was Victor himself.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK

In These Rushing Days the Pedestrian Has No Show at All With Insurance Company.

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you football? Baseball? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap. Sorry—good night!"

Something Like a Nerve.

The talk in the club had been of cool deeds on the battlefield, when the member who rarely spoke broke in on our conversation.

"The coolest bit of nerve I ever saw," he drawled, "was when I was motoring in the Midlands with the Honorable Jimmy. It had been raining, and as we turned the corner of the village street we skidded badly, then shot forward. Crashing into the little postoffice, we smashed the front of the shop clean through and knocked down the village postman. It was then that the Honorable Jimmy showed what he was made of. He jumped out of the car, and advancing to the terrified girl behind the counter, said in his blandest voice: 'Two halfpenny stamps, please, miss.'—London Tit-Bits.

Counted Ants for Two Years.

A marvel of scientific research, says our Berlin correspondent, has been accomplished by Professor Young, who has been investigating the interior condition of anthills. By dint of patient observation Professor Yemg discovered that an anthill two feet in height was inhabited by 93,780 ants. Other anthills of almost the same size were found to contain 67,500, 53,000 and 48,000 ants respectively. These observations and the counting of the tiny insects occupied two years.—London Evening Standard.

Physical Limitations.

There was a very stupid play presented early in the New York season, an "adaptation" it was called by the author. Even the best-natured critics went away in disgust. One newspaper representative turned to another and said: "If this jumble had been presented on the other side of the water it would have been hissed. As there were a lot of foreign visitors present I wonder that it was not."

"It really is a wonder," was the other's reply. "I would like to have hissed myself, but you can't yawn and hiss at the same time."—Metropolitan Magazine

Couldn't Understand It.

A farmer's wife became insane, and to a friend who tried to console him, the farmer exclaimed: "I can't understand what caused her to go crazy. I hope I'll be struck dead if I ain't telling you the truth when I tell you that she ain't been out of the kitchen a day in 20 years."

Portrait Ring Is Novelty.

One of the novelties of the season is the portrait ring. To all appearance the circlet is an ordinary signet ring with the head massively set. At one side, however, is a spring, which, when pressed, causes the top of the seal to leap back, the signet in reality forming a miniature box. A tiny portrait on copper in colors or monochrome is then disclosed to view.

Swallowed Her Fals. Teeth.

Through swallowing her false teeth apparently while she was asleep, Mrs. Alice Dear, 51 years old, of Sewell road, Battersea, died. The cause of her death was discovered at a post-mortem examination.—London Chronicle.

GOOD REMEDY FOR HICCOUGH

Spasmodic Contractions of Diaphragm Stopped Instantly by Small Quantity of Powdered Sugar.

Hicough is a sudden and spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm, determining a brusque shock to the walls of the abdominal and thoracic cavity, and is accompanied by a rough and inimitable sound caused by the sudden closure and sonorous vibration of the vocal cords.

Among the numerous remedies employed against the disagreeable symptoms there is one recommended by Dr. Petit of Beaumont, France, which, although not really new, is but little known. It has the merit of being extremely simple and is said to be remarkably efficacious.

It consists simply in swallowing as quickly as possible a tablespoonful of powdered sugar without any admixture with water. The hicough will be immediately stopped. If it comes on again, the same remedy again will be found successful.

What is the action of the powdered sugar? Probably it sets up a kind of reflex action. The sugar certainly plays no specific role in this case, and it is probable that any inert powder would have the same effect.

Dr. Petit has made use of this remedy for some years, and it has rarely failed. Accordingly he recommends recourse to it even when the case of hicoughs may have resisted all the standard remedies.

WHAT THE GUEST SHOULD BE

Cheerful, Adaptable Man or Woman Will Leave Happy Memory Behind on Leaving.

With the advent of summer comes the beginning of the period when the distinction and the pleasure of being a guest comes to a great many men and women. With the ready assimilation of the American people we have taken that exotic phrase, the weekend, to our common usage. And whether we are invited to go sailing in a hundred-dollar catboat, roughing it literally in a shanty called a bungalow, or enjoying the luxuries of a rich friend's country estate, we are all week-ending with the same catholicity of spirit that we show in the national habit of carrying suit cases. Hospitality has two faces—those of the host and the guest. And the most difficult one to present with an attractive mien is that of the latter estate. Cheerfulness is the most desirable characteristic of the ideal guest and second to this comes a readiness of spirit to enter any plan for the day or the night's pleasure. The adaptable man or woman is the one dearest to a host's heart; and you may pluck the reward of your entertainer's gratitude by your readiness to wash dishes as by your tolerance of a dub player at tennis or bridge in more luxurious surroundings. We all of us pay our way through the world through other mediums than that of the currency of the realm. None does this more certainly than the guest who leaves a happy memory behind him.—Philadelphia Press.

Goose Raiser Finally Found Out Just Why His Flock Did Not Increase.

The oldest of us can remember being told that "Little Bopeep lost his sheep," but as they came home at last, Bopeep was not so badly off as was Bob Vorus, who six years ago started a goose farm on his mill pond, near Lumpkin, Georgia.

He knew the value of feathers, and thought the people would appreciate the opportunity of obtaining them near home for making pillows and beds.

His big mill pond was such a fine place for them to swim and live and raise their young in. So he got five hundred pairs of geese and put them on his pond.

Their nests were built in the rushes along its banks and their melodious voices reverberated from end to end of the pond. But they did not increase, according to Bob's notion; their numbers were diminishing perceptibly.

A dead one could be seen occasionally drifting along the edge of the bordering rushes. At first Bob thought it might be minks, otters, skunks, foxes, or what not that were destroying them, but soon found out that it was alligators for he actually saw one of the ugly reptiles catch a goose and pull it under water. Partly eaten geese would sometimes be found.

Germany's Flower City.

Erfurt, known as the Flower City, is the seat of the horticultural industry in Germany, thousands of visitors coming here each year to see the magnificent displays of plants and flowers cultivated in the local nurseries and hothouses.

The Five Great Races.

In answer to the question, "What are the five great races of mankind?" a Chinese student replied, said Bishop Montgomery at the anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, reports the London Mail, "the hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter mile, the mile and the three miles." In another paper a Chinese student said that "Out of sight, out of mind," could be explained in two words, "Invisible, insane."

DIDN'T SEEM TO WORK OUT

Dog Owner's Idea Bright Enough, but Somehow Her Memory Got Twisted.

To Miss Bounce, who knows nothing whatever about dogs and can scarcely tell a greyhound from a St. Bernard, Mr. Kennell presented a fine young Airdale terrier. He was extremely wide awake and active, even for a pup, and the young lady was kept constantly on the alert to prevent his getting into mischief or running into danger. Casting about in her mind for a suitable name for this restless animal Miss Bounce remembered that in her school days she had learned in her philosophy that "wind is air in motion." What more appropriate name, then, for the young Airdale than Wind. So Wind he was called. His name, thought Miss Bounce, also will aid me memorically to remember the name of the species to which he belongs.

"What kind of a dog is that pup of yours?" asked some one a few weeks after the christening.

Miss Bounce's eyes roved anxiously for an instant, but steadied them selves directly as she replied with serene confidence, "He is a Wind Hound."

Curious Neighbors Foiled.

A wealthy New York society woman has recently become very much interested in city missionary work. In her district is a poor, but respectable family named Moriarty, living on the top floor rear of a tenement house in a congested east side street.

Every time she has visited the Moriarts she has been much annoyed by the staring and whispering of the other occupants of the building. The other day she spoke to Mrs. Moriarty about it.

"Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am," she remarked.

"They do so," acquiesced Mrs. Moriarty.

"Do they ask you about it?"

"Indade they do, ma'am."

"And do you tell them?"

"Faith, thin, an' Oi do not. Oi jist say you're me dressmaker, an' let it go at that."—Metropolitan Magazine.

Still the Open Kettle.

One very seldom sees a washing machine in use in the south, says Frank P. Fogg in the National Magazine. The old-fashioned way of washing in the open air at the side of a brook or at the well and boiling the clothes in an iron kettle over a smoking open fire is still in vogue.

Moving Picture Privilege at Fashionable International Wedding Should Sell for Good Sum.

The promoter of sporting events had hardly seated himself in his modest office when a male person of unmistakably English-exterior opened the door and approached him affably.

"Old chap!" said he, "I represent Lord Harduppe, old chap. I'm his manager and all that sort of—"

"Lord Harduppe, who is to marry Miss Nothyng-Butte, the American millionaire?" queried the promoter.

"The same, old chap. The wedding takes place Tuesday week. His lordship naturally could not call upon you in person, but any arrangement that I may make with you will be quite satisfactory to him, I assure you."

"What's his lordship's game?" asked the promoter of sporting events.

"Does he want me to pull off a prize fight at his bachelor dinner, or what?" The manager of his lordship smiled mysteriously, drew his chair a bit closer to the other's and whispered a few words.

"What!" cried the promoter. "No!"

"Yes, really; upon my word, old chap!" said his visitor. "You shall have the full American rights. All his lordship asks is 10,000 down and 40 per cent. of the gross receipts."

You know, of course, old chap, that it's quite unprecedented socially, and all that sort of thing, but his lordship needs the money, as you Americans say, and, really, it's such a piping chance, he can't afford to let it pass."

It will be the easiest thing in the world, you know, to hide the machine among the flowers at the altar. Why, my word, old chap, you ought to be able to book this thing in every theater in your blooming country!"

And thus, for the first time on record, was sold the moving-picture privilege at a fashionable international wedding—Brooklyn Times

First Meal of the Day.

Breakfast is, before all things, a respectable meal. One cannot imagine a man or woman who is always down punctually to breakfast; being other than a highly reputable member of society. A dinner may be frivolous, a supper may be hilarious, but a breakfast is always staid and solemn and conducive to the building up of a sound and sensible character.

Oldest American Settlement.

Acoma, an Indian village of the southwest, is said to be the oldest settlement in this country. It was referred to by the Spanish 30 years before St. Augustine was founded.

GUARANTY OF HIS SILENCE

Presence of Masterful Wife in Church Stopped Objectionable Noise Man Thought Was Singing.

Unexpectedly a city pastor who encouraged congregational singing gained a new parishioner. Keen though his delight in hearing his people sing, there was one member of his flock whose endeavors he never encouraged. But the man sang without encouragement, much to the discomfort of pewholders anywhere near him, who claimed that his loud, unmusical voice threw them out of tune.

Repeated complaints convinced the minister that somebody would have to assume the responsibility of silencing the ambitious singer. He decided that the man's wife was best fitted for the job. Owing to a difference in religious views husband and wife attended different churches, but the minister knew her, so he called and explained his predicament. She was genuinely surprised.

"Do you mean to say he sings?" she asked.

"Times to!" amended the pastor. She thought a minute. "I shall have to come there to church," she said.

"I shall be glad to see you," said the minister, "but what effect will that have on your husband's singing?"

The look she gave him was more significant than words, and they meant a good deal.

"I will never open his mouth when I am around," she said.

And John never has.

Wore Outer Clothing Only.

Centuries ago as Sir Walter Scott says in "Ivanhoe," men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was in vogue, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoat, breeches and later on, trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the mediaeval cloak was rare until the seventeenth century.

Had Laugh on the Dog.

An Irishman went into a butcher shop and bought a pound of soup meat. He then asked the butcher to write out a recipe, explaining how to cook it, and the butcher did so. As the Irishman was leaving the butcher shop with the meat in his hand a big black dog strolled up behind him and stole it. The Irishman shouted at the dog: "That's the time I fooled you. Ye haven't got the recipe to cook it!"

NOVELTY IN LETTER WRITING

How the Ignorant Factory Girl Managed to Accept an Offer of Marriage.

One Englishwoman relates rather a pretty story about a factory girl's way of answering a marriage proposal made to her. Of course it happened long, long ago.

The young woman could not write or read writing, and one day, says the lady, she brought a letter to me to read it to her. It contained an offer in marriage.

I happened to know that the writer was a deserving young artisan, so I said to her, "Now, you must consider this matter very seriously, and if you like to come to me when you have made up your mind, I will write a reply for you."

A day or two afterward I met the girl again, and asked her if she wanted me to answer the letter for her.

"O, that is all right," said the girl, looking radiant and pleased. "I've settled it; I answered it myself."

"Why, how did you do it?" I asked.

And then she told me that she could make a capital "I," and that she stuck on the paper a piece of wool after it for "will"—"I will."

Surely one of the quaintest acceptances of an offer in marriage ever penned.

Making Meeting Equal.

One day a distinguished notary while breakfasting with a friend at a cafe in Paris indulged in some stinging comments on the public acts of Marshal Marmont. Suddenly another gentleman, dining at another table, arose and approached them, his mustache bristling with anger. "Sir," cried he tragically, "you shall give me satisfaction!" Are you Marshal Marmont?" quickly asked the notary.

"I have not that honor," was the indignant reply. "But I am his chief aide-de-camp." "Give me your card then, sir," said the notary. "I will send you my head clerk."

Uses of the Aloe.

In Africa the leaves of certain species of aloe provide material for bow strings, hammocks, fishing lines and ropes. With the Mohammedans the aloe means much. For instance, those who have returned from a pilgrimage to Mecca hang it over their doors, as a sign that they have made the great journey.

Food for Cats—and for Thought.

Said the bobo: "I went around to a back door today and asked for something to eat. 'Madam, I said, 'if you will only give me the food you gave your cat I will be satisfied.' 'If you want to be around the barn and catch mice I haven't any objections," she told me."—Atchison Globe.

Can Defy Microbes.

A doctor in Yokohama, Japan, has built himself a novel house with a view to guarding against microbes. The walls of this remarkable edifice are made of blocks of glass. They are hollow, the interstices being filled up with a solution of salts of soda, which is intended to regulate the temperature of the interior. The windows are hermetically closed, and air is only admitted after passing through filters.

Poor Excuse for Absence.

Women have tried to excuse their absence from the breakfast table on the plea that they never look their best in the early morning hours. But beauty is superfluous at breakfast save when it manifests itself in the cunning red and white of bacon, in the delicate aroma of coffee or the pungent amber of marmalade or honey. Our aesthetic sensibilities are not fully awake till the afternoon.

LUTHERANS WIN GAME FROM FIRST PRESBYTERIANS

By consecutive hitting and respectable base running together with occasional errors, the Lutherans were enabled to thoroughly discomfit the First Presbyterians Monday night. The score was 7 to 1.

Miller was on the mound for the Lutherans and did splendid work, allowing but four safe hits, and not all of them juicy bingles. The Lutherans managed to get eight safeties off Osborne, and they came when they seemed most necessary.

The Lutherans were first at bat and scored three runs. Butz contracted a single, and went third on Joe Mason's hit to middle. When Wertz was out at first Butz came home. Meanwhile Mason had stolen second. He went third on Wertz's out and when Stech connected to the value of two bases came home. Stech himself scored on an error.

Mason's tribe of doughty warriors gather in three more scalps in the third. Chief Mason himself started things with a single. Wertz singled. Stech struck out. Sharkey singled. Thereupon Frye had a costly slipup at third getting off-corner and both Mason and Wertz trotted to their wigwam. Sharkey trotted the round on Patton's single. Butz got a walk in the sixth, and went second on a passed ball. Mason pondered a moment then slapped one on the trade mark for one base, bringing in Butz. That concluded the scoring for the Lutherans.

Wilson singled first pop out of the box in the first inning for the Presbyterians, and came home when Galbraith slapped one for two bases.

BASEBALL BINGLES

Owing to darkness the game was called after a portion of the sixth inning had progressed. During that portion the Lutherans had scored two runs and there were two men on base with only one out, the leaders of the batting order coming to bat.

All there was to it the Lutherans had the First Presbyterians out-classed.

The Champion Lutherans' digestive organs are due to be sorely overtaxed, as the Champs are scheduled for no less than three banquets by reason of winning the glad rag. The first celebration takes place at Mr. Herman Heupel's, where the Lutheran warriors will be royally entertained. Next week a big affair will be held to which representatives from all the teams will be invited by the jolly Lutherans.

Any follower of the game as played in the Church league can readily see by observing the methods of the Lutherans the reason for them winning the glad rag.

Thomas Mangan, Esq., distinguished himself in middle garden by a beautiful catch of Wertz's fly in the fourth. When the ball left the bat it conversed in a tone which meant two or three spots, but Tom held the winning hand. Chasing toward right field at a gait that would have done credit to Dan Patch he leaped into the air about a dozen feet, more or less and nabbed the wanderer and froze to it. Needless to say Thomas was given a hand.

That boy Sharkey surely has the baseball itch in him and with a little batting eye training should make good in something bigger than the church league.

Galbraith pulled in a nice one of Capt. Wertz's in the sixth. He seemed to be a big disappointment to the Lutherans, inasmuch as they couldn't seem to get anything worth while past him.

Apparently Smith Frye tries to locate the bleachers with his left foot when he bats. He steps back from the plate as far as possible. Yet he manages to hit the ball occasionally.

Wilson wants all the credit rightfully get but he disclaims any responsibility for that. He is playing on first base Saturday. The Wilson who occupied that sack was Henry Wilson of Fayette City.

The Lutherans have some catcher, "Wahoo"—get that, "Wahoo" Bill Fleming. His name sounds sort of Indian like but that doesn't necessarily mean that he is barbarous.

MONONGAHELA PROPERTY INCLUDED IN BIG DEAL

Holdings of River Coal at Dry Run Taken Over By Frick.

900 ACRES COAL LAND

Development of Territory Is Looked For--Rights of Way Are Secured.

Upon the completion of the big coal deal in which the Steel Corporation purchased 900 acres of coal land in the Pittsburgh Coal with which is affiliated the River Coal company, the Steel Corporation through its subsidiary company, the H. C. Frick Coke company, will become a taxpayer of Monongahela, says the Monongahela Times.

In the deal which is now being closed the Steel Corporation takes over the New Eagle holdings of the River Coal company, which includes 900 acres of coal immediately back of the city, and all the surface formerly owned by the River Coal. This includes the Dry Run property, the Dry Run bottoms and in fact, all the surface previously held by the River Coal, taking in the right of way on the Keenar property below the power house, which has been reserved as an opening for the canal. This tract taken over by the Steel Corporation joins with the lands of the Mingo Coal company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel, and which has a large acreage in the Mingo district.

In selling this large acreage in that district, the River Coal took care of the workings of Catsburg, Eclipse and Crescent mines. Between these three workings about 5,000 acres of coal will be divided, of which amount 1,800 acres have been allotted to Catsburg, and this amount may be increased when the allotment lines have been completed. This field is estimated to give Catsburg sufficient average to operate for 35 years. The Diamond mine will not be affected by this deal, as it has a large acreage to draw from, and it is estimated that it will require 25 years to exhaust the field in which it is now working. The Guffey tract of 800 acres, back of Webster, was also included in the deal, but it is not likely that anything will be done in the way of development in that locality for some years.

The Steel corporation now has considerable coal land divided in several States approximately as follows:

Southern Illinois, 20,000 acres. Northern Indiana, 8,000 acres. Southern Indiana, 4,000 acres. Kentucky, 8,000 acres. Alabama, 10,000 acres. West Virginia, between 25,000 and 30,000 acres, while in Southwestern Pennsylvania their holdings of coking coal is estimated at 20,000 acres. It will thus be seen the corporation is well fortified when it comes to taking care of their needs for many years to come.

Both the deals noted above evidently means there will be some radical changes in the method or manner of opening and developing the immense coal holdings in this section of Washington county, and here are many who predict that the next few years will see an activity in this respect never before equaled in the history of mining in this section.

Additional Districts are Created for the Bituminous Coal Field

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Bituminous Coal Commission today of the appointment of four new mine inspectors for the coal region, as follows: Richard Maize, Harbort; Edward F. Conrad, Harbort; Thomas A. Mather, Jr., Harbort; and A. J. Farness, Jonestown. One of Mines James E. Roderick has been announced the district, but they will probably be assigned as follows: Maize, Somerset; Conrad, Mason; Mather, Tyrone; and Farness, Pottsville.

PROGRESS ON ROAD

Thought That Cars Can be Run Donora Route This Fall.

CONTRACTORS WORK HARD

The work of paving on the improved road between Monongahela and Donora will likely be completed about the middle of next week, unless weather should interfere. There remains a little to be done on the hill at Black Diamond, and when this is completed the work of the contractor, so far as the road is concerned, will be through. However, the Sweeney Contracting company is now engaged in taking up the sub-grade for the street railway company, and in this contract having been commenced at the Donora borough line. This work will be pushed as fast as possible, which will be followed by the placing of the ballast and ties by the railways company. Trolley cars should be in operation between Monongahela and Donora some time in the early fall.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL PUT THROUGH

One of the largest real estate deals to be put through for some time, it is said has practically been consummated in Monessen, H. Cramer, a merchant of that place purchasing from Joseph Powers, of Belle Vernon, a three story brick building on Donner avenue. The consideration is said to be $17,500. A Five and Ten cent store now occupies the store room of the building which is in the heart of the business section.

UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC TO BE FEATURE

Affair Thursday Promises to Attract Big Crowd to Eldora Park--Special Cars Will Be Run.

Special cars will be run at 9 and 10 o'clock Saturday morning from Fifth street, Charleroi, to Eldora Park on Thursday of this week. The sports committee will hold a meeting tonight to arrange a program of sports. The picnic will be the first of the kind in the Charleroi district. A picnic of Charleroi Sunday School was held previously but this did not take in the Sunday Schools of other boroughs. Every precaution will be taken at Eldora Park to protect children from traffic. Each child will be given a certain number of free tickets for the various amusements.

INSPECTION OF CARS ORDERED

P. & L. E. Prepares for Increase in the Coal and Coke Trade.

Orders have been received at the Monongahela station of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad to have all the freight cars which have been stored on the sidings at Axleton to the number of almost 300 inspected preparatory to their being moved out on the division. These cars have been stored there since last fall, due to the falling off in coal and coke traffic, but recent stock of the company makes it necessary to put them into commission just as fast as they are made available.

Coal and coke traffic on both the P. & L. E. and the Lake Erie have shown signs of renewed activity the past few weeks, and it has now expanded to great proportions. The demands from the northwest are becoming heavier to which is added the additional demand from the Canadian provinces, where a strike of coal miners has been in progress for the past six months. According to the view taken by railroad officials, the outlook is very bright for the coal and coke trade during the coming months.

CHARLEROI LODGE HOLDS PICNIC AT ROCK POINT TODAY

The annual outing of Glass City Lodge No. 4392, G. O. F. of Charleroi, is being held at Rock Point today and there is a big number from the valley in attendance. A special excursion train ran from the valley to the park. A special excursion train ran from Brownsville on the P. & L. E. road stopping at intermediate points between Brownsville and Homestead. The committee in charge of the affair consists of George Turner, Eljah Smith, Thomas Gourden and Hiram T. Smith.

C. E. Lancaster won in the gentlemen's driving race at the I. O. O. F. picnic Saturday.

George Richey of Centerville visited town friends Saturday.

Mrs. C. E. Lancaster and daughter, Miss Marie, and Miss Ethel Richey were recent Washington callers.

The I. O. O. F. picnic held on Saturday at Sandy Plains was attended by thousands. Good speaking was a feature.

Mrs. R. S. John was a Brownsville caller Saturday.

Geo. Kammerer and wife of Charleroi were Saturday visitors.

Miss Mollie Craven is here from Pittsburgh.

Former Waynesburg Bank Cashier Turns Over Property.

Carrying out an order of the circuit court J. B. F. Rinehart, formerly cashier of the Farmers and Drovers National bank of Waynesburg, which closed its doors December 12, 1906, and who is now serving 15 years in the penitentiary, today conveyed by deed the property which he held in Greene county at the time the institution failed. The property which he deeded, equity accounts to a total of a million dollars.

The deeds also convey property which J. B. F. Rinehart had conveyed to his wife shortly before the failure of the bank. The conveyance of the property turned over to Mrs. Rinehart followed an agreement.

The land conveyed to John H. Strawn, receiver of the F. & D. bank, in which Mrs. Rinehart was interested included the coal under three tracts containing 117.95 acres, 10.25 and 47 acres and 81 percent, and a tract of land located in Franklin township containing 119.57 acres coal reserved. This Franklin township property is valued at about $225,000. There were judgments against this property to the amount of $1,000. By the agreement Mrs. Rinehart paid off the judgments while Receiver Strawn pays Mrs. Rinehart $225,000.

The other deeds convey to the bank Mr. Rinehart's interest in the Morris township coal block equal to 1,500 acres which is valued at about $225,000.

WINNERS OF TWO FLAGS MAY FIGHT IT OUT SATURDAY

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Church League Monday evening it was decided that the Methodist Episcopal game scheduled for Thursday of this week be played on Wednesday on account of the Union Sunday School picnic at Eldora Park, providing satisfactory arrangements can be made.

The matter of the game between the Lutherans, pennant winners of the Charleroi Church league and the Lutherans, leaders in the Monessen Church league was taken up and such a game will probably be played on Saturday afternoon of this week. The name of one player was acted upon, John Tuttena being added to the Washington Avenue list.

It was decided to have the game between members of the Executive Committee and the managers on next Wednesday, August 9. Joe Stech is the manager of the executive members' team and Jack Rickey is manager of the managers' team. It is probable that they will announce their line-ups Wednesday. The game will be played according to rules of 1861.

TEACHERS ALL ACCEPT

Charleroi School Places All Filled for Coming Term.

SCHOOL OPENS AUG. 28

Secretary Ira L. Nickerson, of the school board, has just received the acceptance of Charles M. Donicy of Waynesburg to the position of teacher in the High School to which he was elected at a meeting last week. All vacancies in the schools have not been filled and all teachers have accepted their places. School will start on Monday, August 28, a little more than three weeks from today. Prof. James G. Pontz, superintendent of schools is now absent on his vacation, but he will return within a few days and prepare for the opening of the term. The newly elected High School principal, Prof. W. A. Swick, has been here practically all summer, being the superintendent of the playgrounds.

The school will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening of this week and all final arrangements for the opening of the term completed.

MACCABEES TENDER SURPRISE TO MEMBER

Mrs. W. U. Evans, of McKean avenue, was tendered a very pleasant surprise Monday evening by members of the Lady Maccabees in honor of her birthday. An enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Evans was the recipient of a very beautiful centerpiece. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. James Garrigan, Mrs. Clarence Blanchard and Miss Carrie Porter.

Dynamite Used to Blow Away Portion of Building.

NONE OF INMATES HURT

Children Were Sleeping Over Porch Which Was Entirely Wrecked.

An attempt was made to dynamite the home of Maze Conway, of Granville, near California this morning about 12:30 o'clock which resulted in the porch of the house being blown off. Both Mr. and Mrs. Conway were sleeping in up-stairs rooms at the time of the dynamiting and their children occupied a room almost over the porch, but no one was hurt. There is no clue as to the identity of the person or persons who committed the deed.

Apparently there was not much dynamite used, and the intent evidently was to set fire to the house, more than to dynamite it with the intention of killing the inmates. Little fire followed the explosion.

The Conways lived on the outskirts of Granville, which is a mining hamlet back of Coal Centre. People living in California heard the reverberation. The house was shaken on its foundations but stood firm. The porch tottered and fell, a mass of wreckage. The Conways were awakened from sound sleep and quickly got out of the building. The damage will probably amount to $200. The structure was probably worth $1,500.

LUTHERANS PLAY THEIR FINAL GAME

Closing the season with a percentage of 92.9 the four winners of the Charleroi Church Baseball league, the Lutherans played their last game Monday night when they defeated the First Presbyterians. The First Presbyterians also played their last game and finish in seventh place with a percentage of .357. There are three games yet to be played this week and the important place now to be decided is second place where there is a tie between the Episcopalians and Catholics. The Episcopalians play the Methodists on Thursday and the Catholics play the Baptists in the concluding game on Friday. If both win there will be a game next week to decide the tie.

Entertains for Guests.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Minton Shippe Monday evening, when a party was held in honor of her guests, Robert and Harold Moss. There were about 18 guests present and the evening was spent with music and games. Lunch was served.

THE PRECEDENT BREAKER.

Leaders of men have ever been precedent breakers, says Success. Timid people, no matter how able, never make leaders. Fearlessness and originality are characteristic of all men of progress. They have no reverence for the old simply because it is old, with them it is always a question of pushing forward, of improving on the past, instead of slavishly
copying it.

What Charles W. Eliot has done
for the educational world, the Marshall Fields, the Wanamakers, the J. C. Penney, the Carnegies have done for the business world.

General Grant did what all the Generals who condemned him for not following war precedents could not do—he ended the war. Napoleon ignored all previous war methods,
made all war precedents in his conquering march through Europe. Men of force and initiative are always breaking precedents. Weak, timid,
timid men never break anything.
The level had little use for White House precedents or political traditions. In every position, whether as President or Commissioner, Governor, Vice President or President, he has always insisted on being himself—no
copy. He never tries to imitate or copy his heroes. No matter how much he admired a man he never imitates him. A great deal of his remarkable success came from this.

The surest way to secure failure,
said Joseph Jefferson to young actors
was to imitate someone else."

DON'T BE CHEAP.

Do not hold yourself too cheap,
says the Milwaukee Journal. If you do not think well of yourself others
are not likely to think much of you.
You are usually taken at your own value. By this is not meant a foolish self-conceit but a proper self-respect.

Have a regard for the proper esteem of those whose opinion is worth having. No one can be admired by
all. He who has no enemies may doubt whether he has real friends.
Try to win the regard of the good
and the wise; if the foolish take offense pass it by.

Think too well of yourself to stoop
to anything coarse, mean or untrue.
However humble your station in life
may be, you may think yourself
worthy only of that which is good and true. To be genuine puts you on a high level. Whatever you pursue you may be rich in character. Think yourself worthy of the best to which you can attain. Aim for the highest you see, and should you fail to reach
your aim had been low.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Still it must be admitted that Booker T. Washington has a bigger and better gentile than Jack Johnson.

For the benefit of those who haven't been following this reciprocity business very closely, it might be wise to state that Canada still has something to say on the matter.

There is a place in the west where they say anybody can make a fortune
and the laziest man in the county has gone there. If he makes a success
there won't be any chance whatever for doubt.

It is possible that even jail warden
know what they are doing some times.
One out in Colorado let some long term men chase cattle for him and they brought them back in good time.

It seems that being a life guard insures getting your mug published in the papers down at Pittsburg, providing you can only arrange to save somebody.

Financing the wedding of his daughter to a duke is about the same kind of business proposition to a millionaire as that of giving a dowry to an asylum.

While we are at it, we might as well mention the fact that we are in favor of a sale and some Fourth of July.

The Akron Times says that of course Jack Johnson would fight with England against Germany.

Most people like to be dramatic but don't know how.

Now that the State Dairy and Food
Division has found that all the milk
sold by Charleroi dairymen is pure,
wouldn't they just as lief persuade
them to reduce the price so we could get to taste it occasionally?

If it's all the same to the school authorities and everybody else the boys would just as lief they wouldn't start school at all this year.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I've just heard of a new checking system," said the woman who always has new ideas. "This was revealed at a golden wedding reception I attended recently in a little country town up-state. Of course, the house was large, but as the whole town, pretty nearly, was there, it was something of a task to feed and otherwise refresh those guests properly and to be sure that no one was overlooked.
Well, after greeting the dear old wife
and husband, who stood with the golden winter sunshine at their backs, the guests were passed into a room where punch was served
where ice cream, cake and other delicacies were handed out. They left this room by another door, which took them out into the hall again, but before they passed out of the dining-room a pretty young grand-daughter who stood by the door with a big basket full of yellow carnations (especially colored for the event), pinned a flower to each guest. Of course, the woman who always has such a charming souvenir, but only
the members of the family knew
that when a guest wore a yellow flower he had been served bountifully and those without had had nothing

Pretty clever for a country affair,
wasn't it?"

Congressman Victor Murdock of Kansas, the Republican insurgent who was chief orator at Monessen on the Fourth, is a real newspaper man.
He was formerly managing editor of the Wichita Eagle, and a letter by him to that paper last week contained
this paragraph.

"The other day at a garden party
at the White House I saw a congressman clad in a long black frock coat
walk up to the President and shake hands. It was ninety-eight in the shade and the President, looking cool
in summer flannels, laughed and indicating the direction of the heavy winter garment said: 'You must feel nice and cozy in that coat.'"

A true enough story, except that the writer modestly omitted to tell his home readers the name of the congressman. It was Victor himself.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK

In These Rushing Days the Pedestrian Has No Show at All With Insurance Company.

Here was a case where it seemed
that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."
"Fox about sports?" the examiner
asked. "Do you football? Baseball?
Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."
"Do you scorch?"
"What do you mean?"
"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"
"I have no car."
"What? How do you get about?"
"I walk."
"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap.
Sorry—good night!"

Something Like a Nerve.

The talk of the club had been of cool deeds on the battlefield. When the member who had spoken broke in on our conversation.

"The rocks by the shore I ever saw," he drawled, "was when I was motoring in the Midlands with the Honorable Jimmy. It had been raining and as we turned the corner of the village street we skidded badly,
then shot forward. Crashing into the little postoffice, we smashed the front of the shop clean through and knocked down the village postman. It was then that the dogorable Jimmy showed what he was made of. He jumped out of the car and, advancing
to the terrified girl behind the counter, said in his blandest voice:
"Two ha'penny stamps, please,
miss."

Counted Ants for Two Years.

A marvel of scientific research, says
our Berlin correspondent, has been accomplished by Professor Young,
who has been investigating the interior condition of anthills. By dint of patient observation Professor Young discovered that an anthill two feet in height was inhabited by 33,750
ants. Other anthills of almost the same size were found to contain 57-500, 53,000 and 48,000 ants respectively. These observations and the counting of the tiny insects occupied two years.—London Evening Standard

Physical Limitations.

There was a very stupid play presented early in the New York season,
an "adaptation" it was called by the author. Even the best-natured critics went away in disgust. One newspaper representative turned to another and said: "If this lunatic had been presented on the other side of the water
it would have been hissed. As there were a lot of foreign visitors present
I wonder that it was not."

"It really is a wonder," was the other's reply. "I would like to have hissed myself, but you can't yawn
and hiss at the same time!"—Metropolitan Magazine

Couldn't Understand It.

A farmer's wife became insane, and
to a friend who tried to console him,
the farmer exclaimed: "I can't understand what caused her to go crazy.
I hope I'll be struck dead if I ain't telling you the truth when I tell you
that she ain't ben out of the kitchen
a day in 20 years."

Portrait Ring Is Novelty.

One of the novelties of the season is the portrait ring. To all appearance
the circlet is an ordinary signet ring with the head massively set. At the side, however, is a spring, which, when pressed, causes the top of the seal
to leap back, the signet in reality forming a miniature box. A tiny portrait on copper in colors or monochrome
is then disclosed to view.

GOOD REMEDY FOR HICCOUGH

Spasmodic Contractions of Diaphragm Stopped Instantly by Small Quantity of Powdered Sugar.

Hicough is a sudden and spasmodic
contraction of the diaphragm, determining a brusque shock to the walls
of the abdominal and thoracic cavity,
and is accompanied by a rough and
harsh noise caused by the sudden closure and sonorous vibration of the vocal cords.

Among the numerous remedies employed against the disagreeable symptoms there is one recommended by Dr. Petit of Beaumont, France, which,
although not really new, is but little known. It has the merit of being extremely simple and is said to be remarkably efficacious.

It consists simply in swallowing as quickly as possible a tablespoonful of powdered sugar without any admixture
with water. The hicough will be immediately stopped. If it comes on again, the same remedy again will be found successful.

What is the action of the powdered sugar? Probably it sets up a kind of reflex action. The sugar certainly plays no specific role in this case, and it is probable that any inert powder
would have the same effect.

Dr. Petit has made use of this remedy for some years, and it has rarely recourse to it even when the case of hicoughs may have resisted all the standard remedies.

WHAT THE GUEST SHOULD BE

Cheerful, Adaptable Man or Woman

hind on Leaving.

With the advent of summer comes
the beginning of the period when the distinction and the pleasure of being a guest comes to a great many men and women. With the ready assimilation of the American people we have taken that exotic phrase, the weekend, to our common usage. And whether we are invited to go sailing
in a "hundred-dollar" catboat, roughing
it literally in a shanty called a bungalow, or enjoying the luxuries of a rich friend's country estate, we are all week ending with the same catholicity
of spirit that we show in the national habit of carrying suit cases. Hospitality has two faces—those of the host and the guest. And the most difficult one to present with an attractive
mien is that of the latter estate.
Cheerfulness is the most desirable
characteristic of the ideal guest and second to this comes a readiness of spirit to enter any plan for the day or the night's pleasure. The adaptable man or woman is the one dearest to a host's heart; and you may pluck the reward of your entertainer's gratitude
by your readiness to wash dishes as
by your tolerance of a dub player at tennis or bridge in more luxurious surroundings. We all of us pay our way through the world through other mediums than that of the currency of the realm. None does this more certainly than the guest who leaves a happy memory behind him.—Philadelphia Press.

Goose Raiser Finally Found Out Just
Why His Flock Did Not Increase.

The oldest of us can remember being told that "Little Bopeep lost his sheep," but as they came home at last, Bopeep was not so badly off as was Bob Vorus, who six years ago
started a goose farm on his mill pond near Lumpkin, Georgia.

He knew the value of feathers, and thought the people would appreciate
the opportunity of obtaining them near home for making pillows and beds.

His big mill pond was such a fine
place for them to swim and live and raise their young in. So he got five hundred pairs of geese and put them
on his pond.

Their nests were built in the rushes
along its banks and their melodious
voices reverberated from end to end of the pond. But they did not increase, according to Bob's notion;
their numbers were diminishing perceptibly.

A dead one could be seen occasionally drifting along the edge of the bordering rushes. At first Bob thought it might be minks, otters, skunks,
foxes, or what not that were destroying them, but soon found out that it was alligators for he actually saw
one of the ugly reptiles catch a goose
and pull it under water. Partly eaten
geese would sometimes be found.

The Five Great Races.

In answer to the question, "What are the five great races of mankind?"
a Chinese student replied, said Bishop Montgomery at the anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the London Mail. "The hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter mile, the mile and the three miles." In another paper a Chinese student said that "Out of sight, out of mind," could be explained in two words, "Invisible, insane."

Dog Owner's Idea Bright Enough,
but Somehow Her Memory Got Twisted

To Miss Bounce, who knows nothing whatever about dogs and can scarcely tell a greyhound from a St.
Bernard, Mr. Kennel presented a fine young Alsatian named Bounce. She was extremely wide awake and active, even for a pup, and the young lady was kept constantly on the alert to prevent his getting into mischief or running into danger. Casting about in her mind for a suitable name for this restless animal Miss Bounce remembered that in her school days she had learned in her philosophy that "wind is air in motion." What more appropriate name, then, for the young Alsatian than Wind. So Wind he was called. His name, thought Miss Bounce, also will aid me memorically
to remember the name of the species
to which he belongs.

"What kind of a dog is that pup of
yours?" asked some one a few weeks
after the christening.
Miss Bounce's eyes roved anxiously
for an instant, but steadied themselves directly as she replied with serene confidence, "He is a Wind Hound."

Curious Neighbors Foiled.

A wealthy New York society woman
has recently become very much interested in city missionary work. In her district is a poor, but respectable family named Moriarty, living on the top floor rear of a tenement house in a congested east side street.

Every time she has visited the Mori-artys she has been much annoyed by the staring and whispering of the other occupants of the building. The other day she spoke to Mrs. Moriarty about it.

"Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am," she remarked.

"They do so," acquiesced Mrs. Moriarty.

"Do they ask you about it?"
"Indeed they do, ma'am."
"And do you tell them?"
"Faith, thin an' Oi do not. Oi jist say you're me dressmaker, an' let it go at that!"—Metropolitan Magazine

Still the Open Kettle.

One very seldom sees a washing
machine in use in the south says
Frank P. Fogg in the National Magazine. The old fashioned way of washing in the open air at the side of a brook or at the well and boiling the clothes in an iron kettle over a smoking oven fire is still in vogue.

Moving-Picture Privilege at Fashionable International Wedding Should Sell for Good Sum.

The promoter of sporting events had hardly seated himself in his modest office when a male person of unmistakably English exterior opened the door and approached him affably.

"Old chap!" said he, "I represent Lord Harduppe, old chap. I'm his manager and all that sort of—"

"Lord Harduppe, who is to marry Miss Notbyng-Butte, the American millionaire?" queried the promoter.

"The same, old chap. The wedding takes place Tuesday week. His lordship naturally could not call upon you in person, but any arrangement that I may make with you will be quite satisfactory to him, I assure you."

"What's his lordship's game?" asked the promoter of sporting events.

"Does he want me to pull off a prize fight at his bachelor dinner, or what?"

The manager of his lordship smiled mysteriously, drew his chair a bit closer to the other's and whispered a few words.

"What?" cried the promoter. "No!"

"Yes, really; upon my word, old chap!" said the visitor. "You shall have the full American rights. All his lordship asks is 10,000 down and 40 per cent. of the gross receipts."

You know, of course, old chap, that it's quite unprecedented socially, and all that sort of thing, but his lordship needs the money, as you Americans say, and, really, it's such a piping chance, he can't afford to let it pass. It will be the easiest thing in the world, you know, to hide the machine among the flowers at the altar. Why, my word, old chap, you ought to be able to book this thing in every theater in your blooming country!"

And thus, for the first time on record, was sold the moving-picture privilege at a fashionable international wedding.—Brooklyn Times.

First Meal of the Day.

Breakfast is, before all things, a respectable meal. One cannot imagine a man or woman who is always down punctually to breakfast; being other than a highly reputable member of society. A dinner may be frivolous, a supper may be hilarious, but a breakfast is always staid and solemn and conducive to the building up of a sound and sensible character.

Oldest American Settlement.

Acama, an Indian village of the southwest, is said to be the oldest settlement in this country. It was referred to by the Spanish 30 years before St. Augustine was founded.

Guaranty of His Silence.

Presence of Masterful Wife in Church Stopped Objectionable Noise Man Thought Was Singing.

Unexpectedly a city pastor who encouraged congregational singing found a new parishioner. When, though his delight in hearing his people sing, there was one member of his flock whose endeavors he never encouraged. But the man sang without encouragement, much to the discomfort of pewholders anywhere near him, who claimed that his loud, unmusical voice threw them out of tune.

Repeated complaints convinced the minister that somebody would have to assume the responsibility of silencing the ambitious singer. He decided that the man's wife was best fitted for the job. Owing to a difference in religious views husband and wife attended different churches, but the minister knew her, so he called and explained his predicament. She was genuinely surprised.

"Do you mean to say he sings?" she asked.

"Tries to," amended the pastor. She thought a minute. "I shall have to come there to church," she said.

"I shall be glad to see you," said the minister, "but what effect will you have on your husband's singing?"

The look she gave him was more significant than words, and they went about a good deal.

"John will never open his mouth when I am around," she said. And John never has.

Wore Outer Clothing Only.

Centuries ago, as Sir Walter Scott says in "Ivanhoe," men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was in vogue, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoat, breeches and later on, trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the mediaeval cloak, was rare until the seventeenth century.

Had Laugh on the Dog.

An Irishman went into a butcher shop and bought a pound of soup meat. He then asked the butcher to write out a recipe, explaining how to cook it, and the butcher did so. As the Irishman was leaving the butcher shop with the meat in his hand a big black dog strolled up behind him and stole it. The Irishman shouted at the dog: "That's the time I fooled you. Ye haven't got the recipe to cook it!"

Novelty in Letter Writing.

How the Ignorant Factory Girl Managed to Accept an Offer of Marriage.

One Englishwoman relates rather a pretty story about a factory girl's way of answering a marriage proposal made to her. Of course it happened long, long ago.

The young woman could not write or read writing, and one day, says the lady, she brought a letter to me to read it to her. It contained an offer in marriage.

I happened to know that the writer was a deserving young artisan, so I said to her, "Now, you must consider this matter very seriously, and if you like to come to me when you have made up your mind, I will write a reply for you."

A day or two afterward I met the girl again, and asked her if she wanted me to answer the letter for her.

"O, that is all right," said the girl, looking radiant and pleased. "I've settled it; I answered it myself."

"Why, how did you do it?" I asked.

And then she told me that she could make a capital "I," and that she stuck on the paper a piece of wool after it for "will"—"I will."

Surely one of the quaintest acceptances of an offer in marriage ever recorded.

Making Meeting Equal.

One day a distinguished notary while breakfasting with a friend at a cafe in Paris indulged in some stinging comments on the public acts of Marshal Marmont. Suddenly another gentleman, dining at another table, arose and approached them, his mustache bristling with anger. "Sir," cried he tragically, "you shall give me satisfaction!" Are you Marshal Marmont?" quickly asked the notary.

"I have not that honor," was the indignant reply, "but I am his chief aide-de-camp." "Give me your card then, sir," said the notary, "I will send you my head clerk."

Uses of the Aloe.

In Africa the leaves of certain species of aloe provide material for bowstrings, hammocks, fishing lines and ropes. With the Mohammedans the aloe means much. For instance, those who have returned from a pilgrimage to Mecca hang it over their doors, as a sign that they have made the great journey.

Food for Cats—and for Thought.

Said the bobo: "I went around to a back door today and asked for something to eat. 'Madam, I said, 'if you will only give me the food you gave your cat I will be satisfied.' 'If you want to lie around the barn and catch mice I haven't any objections,' she told me."—Atchison Globe.

Can Defy Microbes.

A doctor in Yokohama, Japan has built himself a novel house with a view to guarding against microbes. The walls of this remarkable edifice are made of blocks of glass. They are hollow, the interstices being filled up with a solution of salts of soda which is intended to regulate the temperature of the interior. The windows are hermetically closed, and air is only admitted after passing through filters.

Poor Excuse for Absence.

Women have tried to excuse their absence from the breakfast table on the plea that they never look their best in the early morning hours. But beauty is superfluous at breakfast save when it manifests itself in the cunning red and white of bacon, in the delicate aroma of coffee or the pleasant amber of marmalade or jam. Our aesthetic sensibilities are only awake till the afternoon.

"I never judge a woman by her clothes," observed Binkins. "No," put in Mrs. B. sarcastically, "a man who is as many burlesque shows as you, so wouldn't."—Milwaukee News.

LUTHERANS WIN GAME FROM FIRST PRESBYTERIANS

By consecutive hitting and respectable base running together with occasional errors, the Lutherans were enabled to thoroughly discomfit the First Presbyterians Monday night. The score was 7 to 1.

Miller was on the mound for the Lutherans and did splendid work, allowing but four safe hits, and not all of them juicy bingles. The Lutherans managed to get eight safeties off Osborne, and they came when they seemed most necessary.

The Lutherans were first at bat and scored three runs. Butz contracted a single, and went third on Joe Mason's hit to middle. When Wertz was out at first Butz came home. Meanwhile Mason had stolen second. He went third on Wertz's out and when Stech connected to the value of two bases came home. Stech himself scored on an error.

Mason's tribe of doughty warriors gather in three more scalps in the third, Chief Mason himself started things with a single. Wertz singled Stech struck out. Sharkey singled Thereupon Frye had a costly slipup at third getting off-corner and both Mason and Wertz trotted to their wigwam. Sharkey trotted the round on Patton's single. Butz got a walk in the sixth, and went second on a passed ball. Mason pondered a moment then slapped one on the trade mark for one base, bringing in Butz. That concluded the scoring for the Lutherans.

Wilson singled first pop out of the box in the first inning for the Presbyterians, and came home when Galbraith slapped one for two bases.

BASEBALL BINGLES

Owing to darkness the game called after a portion of the sixth inning had progressed. During that portion the Lutherans had scored two runs and there were two men on base with only one out, the leaders of the batting order coming to bat.

All there was to it the Lutherans had the First Presbyterians out-classed.

The Champion Lutherans' digestive organs are due to be sorely overtaxed, as the Champs are scheduled for no less than three banquets by reason of winning the glad rag. The first celebration takes place at Mr. Herman Heupel's, where the Lutheran warriors will be royally entertained. Next week a big affair will be held to which representatives from all the teams will be invited by the jolly Lutherans.

Any follower of the game as played in the Church league can readily see by observing the methods of the Lutherans the reason for their winning the glad rag.

Thomas Mangan, Esq., distinguished himself in middle garden by a beautiful catch of Wertz's fly in the fourth. When the ball left the bat it conversed in a tone which meant two or three spots, but Tom held the winning hand. Chasing toward right field at a gait that would have done credit to Dan Patch he leaped into the air about a dozen feet, more or less and nabbed the wanderer and froze to it. Needless to say Thomas was given a hand.

That boy Sharkey surely has the baseball itch in him and with a little batting eye training should make good in something bigger than the church league.

Galbraith pulled in a nice one of Capt. Wertz's in the sixth. He seemed to be a big disappointment to the Lutherans, inasmuch as they couldn't seem to get anything worth while past him.

Apparently Smith Frye tries to locate the bleachers with his left foot when he bats. He steps back from the plate as far as possible. Yet he manages to hit the ball occasionally.

Wilson wants all the credit rightfully get but he disclaims any responsibility for that. He is playing on first base Saturday. The Wilson who occupied that sack was Henry Wilson of Fayette City.

The Lutherans have some catcher, "Wahoo"—get that, "Wahoo" Don't know. His name sounds sort of Indian like but that doesn't necessarily mean that he is barbarous.

Stanley to Fight Willets.

"Digger" Stanley, the Charleroi pugilist has signed articles and is preparing for a fight with John Willets at Philadelphia on Thursday night. Stanley is attracting considerable attention as a boxer.
